

Head of Business Intelligence (m/f/x)

You want to leave your mark in the healthcare sector?

You want to participate in building things that actually benefit people?

Then you'll fit right into our team!

About us:

Temedica is committed to transforming the current health system, improving medical services and bringing the patient back into the focus. Using modern technology, patients are accompanied on their individual journey outside hospitals, doctors' offices and therapist practices.

Your tasks:

As our Head of Business Intelligence you'll work closely with our management and product managers to identify and develop product-specific and company wide KPIs to allow for data-driven development of the company and its products. You'll also be the conceptual driving force behind our Temedica data platform.

You'll be working on the following:

- Create product-specific and company-wide KPIs together with management and product managers
- Explore data from all our products for previously unknown insights
- Build a company-wide infrastructure around data and insights by unifying and extending upon existing tools and analytics
- Drive the development of the Temedica data platform from a conceptual perspective
- Manage our growing business intelligence team

Here's what we have to offer:

- A nice, young and international team with a beautiful office in the heart of Munich*
- A great team culture with responsibility - your work will play a decisive role in shaping our products
- We have an established and fair feedback culture to constantly expand your strengths and potentials
- Your personal and professional development is important to us: use coaching, training and events to further your development

What you should bring to the job:

- Master's degree (or comparable) in IT, Mathematics, Physics or similar fields
- 5+ years of work experience in data science, business intelligence or similar
- Experience with SQL, data mining and data warehousing
- Experience with Agile methods would be beneficial
